Is Life Worth Living?

That depends upon the liver. If the liver is inactive the whole system is out of order—the breath is bad, digestion poor, head dull or aching, energy and hopefulness gone, the spirit is depressed, a heavy weight exists after eating, with general despondency and the blues. The liver is the housekeeper of the health; and a harmless, simple remedy that acts like Nature, does not contribute afterwards or require constant taking, does not interfere with business or pleasure during its use, makes Simmons' Liver Regulator a medical perfection.

I have tested its virtues personally, and know that it is a dyspeptic, biliousness and "the blues" remedy. I have tried forty other remedies before Simmons' Liver Regulator, and none of them gave more than temporary relief, but the Regulator has only relieved but cured.

Diners in New York.

There is one enjoyment of life possessed by New Yorkers which is rarely found in any other of the large cities of this country. The resident of the metropolis who prefers to live in furnished apartments and dine wherever his fancy suits him—a practice common enough in London and in Continental cities—can make a selection from among a hundred or more restaurants where meals are served table d'hôte at prices considerably less than would be demanded for the same meal at an ordinary American restaurant. These places are to be found in nearly every section of the city, but they are most numerous in the neighborhood of upper Broadway. There are French, Italian and German resorts of this description and the price ranges from fifty cents to three or four dollars, including wine, so that the most impetuous individual can take his course dinner regularly at a small expense. In Boston, Philadelphia, and even in Chicago, table d'hôte restaurants are practically unknown, while in New York they are as numerous, and many of them quite as excellent in every way, as in any of the principal cities abroad.—New York Cor. Brooklyn Eagle.

Little Known About Birds.

For nine successive summers a pair of red wings built at the base of a button bush, and year after year more and more nests were made until every spot was occupied for many a rod around. In August the clan gathered, and, as a little flock that seemed scattered by day, but reassembled at sunset, these birds were a feature of the meadow for two weeks or more, then they disappeared. I never saw them unite with a passing flock, but this is what they did. Suggestive as is every flock of birds, we really know but little about them. No naturalists has yet fathomed the mystery of bird life, and bird slaughter has accomplished nothing.—Dr. C. C. Abbott in Montreal Star.

How He Felt About It.

The sermon had been long and prosy. Finally the Rev. Mr. Pounder cried out, "And is this to last forever?" "It looks that way," growled the sleepy parishioner. "If it is, I'm going home."—Harper's Bazar.

Sailing Over Submarine Craters.

The American bark Heeper has arrived from Kobe, after an excellent passage of twenty-seven days, with a full cargo of tea and a graphic account of an experience with a submarine volcano, hot sea water and sulphurous gases. Captain Sodergren states that about 6:45 a. m. on Oct. 28, while laying at anchor in Kobe, the bark received a sudden shock that caused the masts to strain and creak. Some of the standing rigging snapped like a piece of twine and all hands were thrown from their feet. The vessel pitched heavily and caused one of the crossbeams to break from its fastenings and fall on deck. The waters became still an hour later and the bark put to sea.

Early on the morning of Oct. 30, when about seventy-five miles off the Japan coast, the bark was almost thrown on her beam ends by the sudden eruption of a submarine volcano. The water became so hot that when a sea was shipped on deck the crew took to the rigging. The heat became so intense that the pitch in the deck was melted and the seams opened.

"Great blasts of hot air with a strong sulphurous smell," said the captain yesterday, "would come up from the breaking surface of the ocean and almost suffocate us for the moment. Then the membrane of the nostrils became irritated, causing us all to have a fit of sneezing. This phenomenon lasted for several hours. I have had all I want of the Japan side for some time to come."—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Mistake.

These curious personal resemblances, which are not uncommon, have given rise to the popular belief that every man has his double somewhere in the world. It appears that the double of a well known professor of the Rush Medical college is a hairdresser, whose shop is situated in the immediate neighborhood of that institution, and who, well aware of his likeness to the learned doctor, carefully copies the latter in dress, bearing and demeanor. A few days ago the professor was walking homeward from his lecture room, when a gentleman, entirely unknown to him, stopped him in the street, saying:

"Follow me to my house. I want you to cut my hair."

The amiable professor, one of whose principles of life it has always been never to withhold from a fellow creature any service that it might be within his power to render, meekly accompanied the stranger home and there addressed himself to the task thus imperatively prescribed to him.

Lacking professional scissors, he picked up a pair of shears, used for cutting paper, from a writing table in the dressing room to which he had been conducted, and with this implement proceeded most conscientiously to cut his victim's hair down to the very roots.

When he had cleared about half the skull he accidentally stuck the point of his shears into the scalp of his patient, who, springing to his feet in great pain and wrath, exclaimed:

"Can't you take care what you're about? Do you call yourself a hairdresser?"

"A hairdresser!" returned the astonished sage. "Certainly not. I am only Professor Blank, very much at your service, as you perceive."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Cures for the Blues.

Do you ever have the blues? Of course you do, for there never yet lived a man or woman whose soul cast no shadow. These times of depression, from which we all of us suffer more or less, are nothing more than the shadows cast by our souls in the road along which we are walking heavenward. Sunshine rays produce shadows, and the fact that our souls go into eclipse now and then proves that there is sunshine just behind us. But what do you do when you get the blues? Do you cry or scold or mope? Is it hard to live in the same house with you while the shadow falls athwart your way? Do the children get out of the road when they see you coming? I have found one excellent cure for the blues which I mean to tell right here.

Go straight to work and do something for some one more miserable than yourself. Whatever your trouble may be, there is always some one to be found who has a harder lot to bear. The other day a young wife was deserted by her husband and taken to the hospital to face a terrible illness, without a friend to stand by her in her hour of need, and with not a cent to defray expenses or unlock the door of the future. Suppose you go hunt her up and offer a helping hand. Such betrayal and desertion discounts your puffs of vapor. A mother watched the coffin lid close the other day forever and forever, so far as mortal time counts, between her yearning eyes and the face of her only boy. What is your transient depression compared to the heart anguish of such a grief as hers? Don't you think it would help cure you of the blues if you sat down and wrote that mother a letter, or dropped in for an hour or two to keep her company? It seems such a selfish thing to be so exclusive in bearing trouble. A load shared is a load lightened, and the deepest gloom takes on a bright tint now and then if overshone with the sunshine of love.—Chicago Herald.

The Brotherless Girl.

The girl without a brother is especially to be pitied. She is the girl who is never certain of getting the pleasures of life unless she is very attractive. Of course she has no brother who she is certain will take her everywhere; she is apt to get a little bit vain, for she has no brother to tell her, as only a brother will, of her faults and mistakes. It is only the somewhat doubtful fact of a brother that announces, "I wouldn't walk up the street with you in that frock," and the girl whose brother says this to her may be certain that he is only expressing the opinion of other girls' brothers. He may not do it in the most gentle way, but he does tell the truth, and if you ask him why paying a visit to another girl is more desirable than to one you know, he will sit down and look at you, and then he will say:

"Well, you see, it is just this way. From the time you get there she is a nice girl who gives you a pleasant welcome and yet doesn't gush over you. She is entertaining, and yet she has a fashion of putting down nasty gossip or silly talk among whoever is there. She is a restful sort of girl, she is not always wanting to do something that tires you half to death and where the game isn't worth the candle, and when she says goodbye to you you feel certain that she is pretty glad you came and that she will be glad to see you another time, but that she doesn't look upon you as the one and only man in the world." That is the kind of a description that the brotherless girl can't get. Then she doesn't hear of men that a fellow would rather not have his sister go with. Probably the wisest course for her to pursue is for her to choose as her most intimate friend a girl who has a wise brother; then she can reap the benefit of his counsel.—Ruth Ashmore in Ladies' Home Journal.

A Simple Conundrum.

The mathematical smart Alecks are always proposing some new and puzzling question with which to confound those whose bump of calculation is not well developed, but the most exasperating effort in this direction was sprung on a small company the other evening, when one of these human calculating machines inquired: "If five cats catch five rats in five days, how many cats will it take to catch 100 rats in 100 days?" Every answer was given, from 100 cats to 100,000 cats, until it happened to occur to some one that if five cats caught a rat a day there was nothing to prevent their continuing to do so till the end of time if their patience and the rats held out. But before this conclusion was reached over ten dollars had changed hands in bets on the subject, and three quarrels were started which have not yet been settled. Unfortunately, however, none of them involved the originator of the problem, who, escaped before matters had gone so far.—Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A High Priced Stamp.

The highest priced postage stamp in existence is the famous Dundee stamp, worth $2,500, and not purchasable at that price. James Clerk Maxwell, of Dundee, was the inventor of the adhesive postage stamp in 1840. The stamp is in the possession of Sigmund Friedl, an extensive postage stamp merchant of Unter Dölg, Vienna. It was exhibited at the Vienna Jubilee Stamp exhibition. The postage stamp museum, held on May 23, 801, at Vienna, displayed this gem as the greatest attraction among 3,000,000 stamps and other objects exhibited there.—Yankee Blade.

How She Described Her Dresses.

A young lady, en route for the seaside, sent her box on by "goods," and on the consignment note she prepared actually condescended to describe her wearing apparel as "one box of rags," she charge for which would, of course, be much less than if the goods were correctly described.—London Tit-Bits.

Another New Smoke Preventive.

James Murphy, a Chicagoan, is the latest to come forward with a smoke consuming device. Rather, though, is it Mr. Murphy's plan to prevent smoke, and this he seems to do very effectively by a patent arrangement which he places on boilers and stoves. It is the idea to catch and burn the gases that are liberated from the coal before they form the smoke. The smoke itself, the inventor says, cannot be burned after it has once been formed, so he burns the gases.

The principle is that of taking air up from the ashpit in a furnace through fire clay pipes to a hot air chamber above the grate bars. From here it is thrown from all four sides of the grate through a three-quarter inch space which is left open all around the fire, the space being partially ledged over with a "lip" that throws the air across the furnace. The distribution of this hot air equally over the fire catches the gases from the coal before they are formed into smoke and ignites and burns them.

Thus only about 20 per cent. of the usual amount of smoke contains no carbon, is not dirty at all and is white instead of sooty. Mr. Murphy demonstrates the principle of his device in a stove, where the results are more easily seen. The stove is fitted with three fire clay pipes on each side to conduct the air. The stove burns any kind of coal or coke and from none of them any smoke is seen to arise. The stove makes its own draft from the airshaft. The flame burns inward and close to the middle of the grate. An examination of the chimney shows no smoke going up.—New York Telegram.

THE ADMISSION OF UTAH.

Senator Teller of Colorado, one of the most independent Republicans in the United States Senate, has introduced a bill for the admission of Utah as a sovereign State. It provides that all persons qualified to vote for members of the Legislature are eligible for election to a convention to form a State Constitution, which convention shall meet in October next. The bill recites the usual provisions of the Constitution to be adopted and further provides that it shall secure perfect toleration of religious sentiment and prohibits the molestation of any person in the State on account of his religious worship. All rights to the public lands are to be disclaimed by the State, and November next is fixed as the date for the ratification of the Constitution by the people.

Utah has a larger population and more taxable property than the States of Idaho and Wyoming combined, though both were admitted into the Union for political purposes. Utah has been kept in a Territorial condition for years, because polygamy was not only tolerated but countenanced by the Mormon Church. A few years ago Mormon leaders renounced polygamy as a tenet of faith and more recently the people of the Territory divided politically on National party lines.

Judge Zane, of the Territorial Supreme Court, a Republican, in an article in the North American Review, says there are probably 150,000 Mormons in Utah, many of whom are nomadically so. It is idle to talk of disfranchising them, as they are an industrious, temperate people as a rule, and observation has led him to believe that they are law-abiding, and he does not believe that plural marriages have been authorized or sanctioned by the officers of the Mormon Church, since the decree against polygamy was issued.

Against this view of the Mormon situation the Liberals protest. They are in the ascendancy in Salt Lake City, and are waxing fat on the spoils. The Mormons left a full treasury, which the Liberals, who conduct municipal affairs in Buckley style, are squandering for the benefit of favored ones. They have a good thing and they know it, and do not want Utah admitted as a State, and their organs and leaders frighten timid people into the belief that no Gentile can live in Utah if it be admitted to Statehood. Senator Teller, who lives in a State adjoining Utah, and probably knows something of the Mormons, is not frightened by such talk, and Judge Zane, who lives in Utah, and is thoroughly familiar with the Mormons, believes that they should not be disfranchised, and that they are temperate, industrious and law-abiding.

COLD WEATHER EAST.

Foster, the St. Joseph weather prophet, who claims to have discovered a system by which storms can be foretold with absolute certainty, made a "ten strike" this week. The weather East is proving to be exactly as he predicted two weeks ago. Storms and blizzards are prevalent from Texas to Canada. In the Northwest the cold is intense. The mercury froze in many places and only spirit thermometers were of any service in indicating the temperature, which was the lowest experienced for years. Of twenty-three trains due at Chicago Tuesday, none were on time and many of them were blocked by snow drifts. Blinding snow storms raged in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas, and business was at a standstill in many places. At Kansas the cold is the most severe ever experienced in the vicinity, the mercury registering about 25 degrees below zero. In Indian Territory streams were frozen up and many cattle were drowned by breaking through the ice while in search of water. At Dallas and other parts of Texas intense cold followed a rain storm and stock suffered terribly, as a "norther" sent the mercury down about zero.

While the weather East is arctic in its severity, it is as pleasant as could be desired on the Pacific Coast. The sun shines bright and warm in the daytime, and the nights, while chilly, are not severely cold, the mercury seldom going more than eight or ten degrees below zero. It is probable our turn will come next, but the backbone of Winter is usually broken about the 1st of February, and though heavy rains or snows may occur later, they seldom last long in the valleys.

Very many people cannot believe that Chili will be so foolish as to provoke Uncle Sam to spank it. The men who are at the head of that Republic are said to be well-informed and intelligent. If such is the fact they surely will express regret for the Valparaiso incident, apologize to the United States, make reparation for the killing and wounding of the Baltimore sailors, and promise to treat Americans better henceforth.

Congressman Jerry Simpson, the "cock-lest statesman" of Kansas, has introduced a bill to amend the Act of February 12, 1873, providing that the gold dollar shall be the unit value of American coins. The effect of the bill is to repeal the law establishing gold as the standard of value, and make both the gold and silver dollar the unit of American coins.

Governor Boies of Iowa was inaugurated yesterday. The number of visitors from different parts of the State was never larger at such an occasion. There was a parade headed by the military, and the oath of office was administered at the State House by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

George W. Delamater, late Republican candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, has been removed to the State of Washington and opened a law office at Tacoma. He is in his ninetieth year and is making a manly effort to retrieve the fortune which he recently lost in Pennsylvania.

WORKING DAY AND NIGHT.

Getting Vessels Ready for Action.

VALLEJO, Cal., January 20.—The navy yard is very animated now-a-days. The forces of men at work is much larger than it has been for years. Work no longer ceases at sundown but is continued by the aid of electric lights until 10 o'clock at night, while the distinction between Sunday and week days has been lost sight of for weeks. The most important work in progress is that on the Baltimore. She is lying in the stream with coal barges on each side from which her bunkers are being rapidly filled. This has been going on for three days now and will soon be finished. When she will have taken her full capacity of 1,100 tons, she will be able to steam 7,000 miles without replenishment. In an interview this morning with Admiral Irwin he said: "All the Baltimore's repairs are now finished, except those to the engines. Those are receiving a thorough overhauling and will not be completed for ten days or more. She cannot go to sea in less than two weeks. Many of her officers have been granted short leaves of absence but can be quickly summoned if necessary. I have received instructions to prepare the dry dock for the Charleston, and put her in as soon as she arrives. I don't know when she will get here, it may be to-morrow morning, but the dock is ready for her whenever she does arrive. As soon as she can leave the dry dock the monitor Commanche will take her place there, and have her bottom thoroughly cleaned. In every other respect the Commanche is in first-class condition. I don't believe, however, she will be sent to sea but will be retained for harbor defense. No steps have been taken as was reported to replace her two 15-inch smooth bores for rifles of smaller calibre. The Mohican, a wooden vessel, carrying eight smooth bores, and two rifles, has been in perfect order for six weeks and could go to sea any day. She has so far received no orders to leave the yard. Work is also being done on the Ranger and Adams, but they can be of little service. The Omaha and Swatara are laid up and will probably never go to sea again. The double-turreted monitor, Manadonoch, lying alongside the dock and some work is being done on her, but her engines are not in and none of her armor ready. She is practically out of the question as a fighting machine for many months yet."

The Admiral said in conclusion: "We have not received any unusual amount of ammunition or war material of late, but you may say that every vessel in the yard or that comes here will be put in first class fighting condition as quickly as possible."

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, January 20.—Three weeks from today the House Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures will, by the terms of a resolution agreed upon this morning, vote upon the question of reporting to the House a bill for the free and unlimited coinage of silver. This decision was reached harmoniously and after a meeting free from dispute. The proceedings of the committee indicate that very likely it will report to the House a bill for free and unlimited coinage.

After the committee got to work this morning Pierce of Tennessee offered his resolution declaring it the sense of the committee that a bill for the free and unlimited coinage of silver should be reported to the House without delay. As a substitute Bartine of Nevada offered a resolution that the committee proceed at once to the consideration of a bill for the free coinage of silver. Taking the Bland bill as a basis, Johnson of North Dakota proposed to the committee a substitute to the Bland bill his bill for an international monetary conference, but his motion was defeated. Bartine's motion was carried and it was decided that the vote be deferred for three weeks.

Mutiny Among Prisoners.

RIO JANSIRO, January 20.—After a season of comparative tranquility the city has again become greatly disturbed and the citizens are thrown into a state of excitement. Trouble began yesterday evening when 180 prisoners confined for various offenses in Fort Santa Cruz mutinied and succeeded in overpowering the guards and soldiers stationed at that place. They advanced upon Fort Rico and Tage and overcame the soldiers on duty and took possession of the two forts and all the munitions of war they contained. Flushed by these victories, after perfecting all arrangements for guarding the forts, they demanded the restoration to power of the deposed dictator, Fonsela. Troops were placed so as to surround the forts on the land side while war ships were stationed to guard the harbor side. The troops advanced on Fort Rico and at the same time the gunboats bombarded Fort Santa Cruz, and so effective was their work that the rebels were soon forced to surrender. The troops eventually obtained possession of all the forts and the prisoners were again placed in cells.

National Democratic Association.

WASHINGTON, January 20.—A meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Association of Democratic Clubs was held here to-day. It was decided to hold the meeting of the General Committee of the Association at the place of the National Democratic Convention on the same date, which will be decided by the National Executive Committee here to-morrow. A report of the Secretary shows there are between 5,000 and 6,000 clubs on the rolls, every State and Territory being represented.

Fighting for the Convention.

WASHINGTON, January 20.—The most confident cities in the race for the Democratic National Convention to-night are undoubtedly Cincinnati and Milwaukee. Detroit may get it on the first ballot. New York and Detroit are not at all disposed to concede the somewhat presumptuous claims of their rivals as yet. There is evident anxiety to know where Hill, Gorham and Bruce want the convention to go.

Deputy Sheriff Taylor's Case.

CANBON, January 20.—Pete Taylor, the ex-Deputy Sheriff, alleged to be an embezzler of $1,000 from the Sheriff's office, was examined to-day by the Grand Jury and no bill was found against him. The case may go further and other suspected parties may be brought to the front, as it is understood the jury will get to the bottom of the affair.

Fatal Railroad Accident.

PORTLAND, Oregon, January 20.—The Union Pacific passenger train due here at nine this morning was wrecked six miles east of Umatilla this morning and fireman W. H. Pound killed. A tramp, name unknown, and Joseph Warner, a newsboy, were slightly injured. None of the passengers were hurt.

The Cabinet in Session.

WASHINGTON, January 20.—Secretaries Blaine, Elkins and Tracy were in conference with the President to-day. General G. W. Foster was called in and the discussion related generally to Chilean affairs. The question most distinctly under consideration was the character of the President's message.

Woman Suffrage.

WASHINGTON, January 20.—After hearing the delegation representing the Women Suffrage Association the Senate selected a committee on woman suffrage to-day and it decided, three to two, to report favorably to the Senate the proposed measure in favor of a constitutional amendment giving women suffrage.

Opposed to War.

CHICAGO, January 20.—The W. C. T. U. Convention has formulated a protest against a war with Chile and Frances Willard has telegraphed it for presentation to President Harrison.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the systemic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Distress After Eating

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had eaten nothing. My iron bit, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."

Sick Headache

GEORGE A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass.

Heart-burn

After the committee got to work this morning Pierce of Tennessee offered his resolution declaring it the sense of the committee that a bill for the free and unlimited coinage of silver should be reported to the House without delay. As a substitute Bartine of Nevada offered a resolution that the committee proceed at once to the consideration of a bill for the free coinage of silver. Taking the Bland bill as a basis, Johnson of North Dakota proposed to the committee a substitute to the Bland bill his bill for an international monetary conference, but his motion was defeated. Bartine's motion was carried and it was decided that the vote be deferred for three weeks.

John H. Higher of the firm of Higher, Johnson & Co., San Francisco, was here examining the Gould Creamery yesterday. He is interested in the creamery in Douglas county.

At least a thousand people, old and young of both sexes, were at the depot yesterday morning to see the big gun, which this time was composed of steel, not wood and brass.

One Iowa Postmistress, Ruth C. Long of Salina, lost her official position week before last through marrying, with one of her associates. A woman can only retain all her personal rights by maintaining her own legal name.

John H. Thomas, an old resident and well known miner on the Comstock, died yesterday morning at his residence in Virginia City of typhoid fever. Deceased was a prominent member of the I. O. O. F. and also a member of the Virginia Miners' Union and the Knights of Honor.

A rehearsal of the tableaux of Mand Muller, which is to be rendered at the Lyceum Friday night by the Normal Department of the University, took place last night at the Opera House. It was witnessed by a few outsiders, including a Journal reporter, and the universal sentiment was that it will be one of the most interesting entertainments that has ever been presented here.

Arthur Leonard was found guilty at Carson of embezzlement as charged in the indictment, and sentenced by Judge Rising to three years in State Prison. The Judge said while the enormity of the crime warranted a severe sentence, the defendant's youth and previous good character induced him to make it light. The Tribune says Leonard was taken to State Prison yesterday afternoon.

In the District Court of Humboldt county, Judge Cheney presided, this week, Charles Dougherty pleaded guilty of forgery and was sentenced to State Prison for two years; Emil Zahn and Samuel Muller were found guilty of robbery and sentenced to State Prison for seven years; and in the case of John Lyons, tried for assault with intent to commit rape, the jury disagreed, eleven being for conviction and one for acquittal.

THE GREAT GUN.

A Crowd Assembled to See it as it Passed Through.

A crowd of nearly a thousand people was at the depot yesterday morning when freight train No. 6 came in, to view the great cannon, destined for the Monterey, as it passed through. It was upon a 16-wheel iron car built especially for the purpose, which was 37 feet long and weighed of itself 54,800 pounds. The gun was a formidable looking monster, its weight being 102,000 pounds. It is what is called a rifled cannon with a 12 inch bore and takes a ball weighing 800 pounds.

With a charge of 430 pounds of powder it forces such a ball through their air distance of twelve miles, with an initial velocity of 2,000 feet per second. It will be placed upon the new monitor Monterey upon its completion. The car will be immediately returned to the arsenal for another cannon of the same size which will also be a part of the Monterey's armament. The gun was in charge of J. C. Hardin, a brother-in-law of Lieutenant J. M. Neill of the University, who is attached to the Quartermaster's Department. A few minutes after it came in it was literally covered with boys who decorated it with flags. The University students were conspicuous for their interest in the piece. There was much cheering and confusion. One young man as he looked at the "growler" remarked that it ought to be able to knock some of the spots off of Chili.

"Sport McAllister."

The attraction booked at the Opera House for this evening is the great comedy success "Sport McAllister, one of the 400," with that prince of fun-makers, Bobby Gaylor, at the head of the organization, which for completeness is unsurpassed in the annals of farce-comedy. Mr. Gaylor is a peculiar comedian, with a personality entirely his own and original in the extreme.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

An Intelligent Producer's Opinion Plainly Expressed.

Editor JOURNAL:—Now that Congress has got to work, it might be a good idea for people to give their views on what new legislation is most needed for the public good. For my part I think the people of this Republic are more in need of wise financial legislation than any change in the existing tariff law. It may be that a few changes might be made that will be beneficial, but with general financial stringency and the general depressed condition of all business enterprise, it looks like Congress should devote its best energies in the direction of financial reform. The banks at the present time are in a very prosperous condition, doing an enormous business on a very small specie reserve, and the debts that can only be redeemed in gold and silver money are out of all proportion with the money that is in existence. The different forms of indebtedness in the United States to be paid in legal money are about as follows:

The banks owe their depositors more than ten billion dollars. The bond and mortgage holders have a death grip on more than ninety per cent of all property in the United States, as security for the payment of twenty-five billion dollars. The private capitalists and business houses hold personal notes, unsecured, on individuals and corporations estimated at more than ten billion dollars, making a total indebtedness of more than forty-five billion dollars. The most of this vast debt is due and payable on demand.

There is in the United States at the present time, according to the figures of the Director of the Mint, about one hundred and sixty billion dollars. So here is the situation: The debtors of the country have bought money short and have agreed to deliver to their creditors thirty times as much legal tender money as there is in existence. Imagine the shorts on wheat who have been caught out and have agreed to deliver on demand even four times as much wheat as there is in existence and see how they would be crushed. Is it any wonder that the debtors are being crushed and forced to the wall? It looks as if the business world was bankrupt beyond hope of redemption. Banks, corporations and business houses are going to smash every business hour of the day, and a panic seems to be approaching that will necessarily bankrupt ninety-five per cent of the entire producing element of the nation. The bondholders have controlled the financial legislation at Washington for more than forty years. The general public have been kept in ignorance of the situation and financial stringency has been laid to twist, free trade or a special act of Providence. The bondholders have succeeded in keeping the producers at war with each other on the tariff, and they have also succeeded in getting a mortgage on their property. The golding bondholders have built a financial structure in the United States so enormously top heavy that it cannot stand much longer, and when it does fall, it not only will crush the debtors but will make a financial wreck of seventy-five per cent of the bondholders. It may be that it is too late for Congress to amend and remedy the situation, but among such a deliberative body of men as is assembled at Washington there may be a Moses of sufficient ability to bring order out of chaos, provided the true situation is brought to his attention. To some it looks as if nothing short of a miracle can prevent a financial panic that will bring such dire disaster as will cause President Harrison to forego issuing any Thanksgiving proclamation for the year 1892.

In my opinion the first move of Congress should be to pass a free coinage law and make silver a full legal tender without any restriction. Will some bondholder of Washoe county or vicinity give his views on the subject and inaugurate a general discussion? It might result in much good. DEBBON.

A SLANDER REFUTED.

A Communication that Explains Itself.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 18, 1892.
DR. HOGAN:—Dear Sir:—I am truly sorry that anything I have written could have been so vitally construed as to have given you a moment's pain and well remembering how very sensitive you are when your honor or truthfulness is called in question, I hasten to refute the malicious slander. As I remember you in the days now long gone by, you were a gentleman profoundly learned, parted your golden ringlets in the middle, twirled a cane, was so extremely polite that I have frequently seen you bowing to your own shadow and, if my memory is not greatly at fault, smoked cigarettes. The absurdity of calling a man endowed with all these ennobling characteristics a liar, is so patent as to need no refutation.

O, yes, I well remember Old Buck. He is one of the gang that worked at the Ophir mill when that immense quantity of bullion was stolen. You will remember that I was District Judge of your county at that time. I should have sent him back to the pyramids, as I was then, and am now, entirely satisfied that he is an escaped mummy. I guess he didn't know that he was dead. Remember me kindly to all my old time associates. Respectfully yours,
C. C. GOODMAN.

PRINCE ALBERT VICTOR.

Funeral Services Held Yesterday and the Remains Removed Last Night.

The funeral services of the late Prince Albert Victor, Duke of Clarence, took place yesterday in London. Short services were held at the Sandringham Church, after which the casket was placed upon a gun carriage and escorted by a battery of artillery to the railway station whence they were taken by train to Windsor. In the procession the helmets of the soldiers and swords of the officers were draped with crepe. The route from the station to the castle was lined with guards, and soldiers comprised the greater part of the funeral cortege. The services at the castle were conducted by Rev. Philip Frank Elliot, Chaplain to the Queen, and the Dean of Windsor, assisted by the Bishop of Rochester, who read the closing prayer, after which the title of the Prince was proclaimed, and Sullivan's anthem, "A Brother Gone Before," was sung. The body was removed at night to Memorial Chapel. Albert Victor, Duke of Clarence and Avondale, was born twenty-eight years ago, the eldest son of the Prince and Princess of Wales. His life has been generally quiet and uneventful, and no promise has been seen in him of extraordinary ability or energy. Good-natured public interest was excited by the preparations for his marriage with his cousin, the Princess Victoria Mary, only daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Teck. These were cut off by his serious illness and death, to the general disappointment and sorrow.

MEASURES OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Bill of Importance to Nevada.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 14, 1892.
EDITOR NEVADA STATE JOURNAL:—The bill to reimburse certain persons who expended money, and furnished services and supplies in expelling invasions and suppressing Indian hostilities within the Territorial limits of the present State of Nevada, was favorably reported to the Senate yesterday. Senator Stewart will call it up for consideration at the first opportunity and secure its passage. This makes the third time that this bill has passed the Senate, and it is to be hoped that it will pass the House at an early day. Senate bills fifty-five and fifty-six, introduced by Senator Stewart, for the erection of a public building at Reno and a public building at Virginia City, have been favorably reported to the Senate and placed on the calendar.

There is no doubt of the passage of these bills through the Senate as they passed that body at the last session. They failed, however, to be considered by the House. There is a good chance of the enactment of these bills before this Congress expires.

THE LEAP YEAR BALL.

And There Were Male Wall Flowers—A Happy Occasion.
A large crowd was in attendance at the leap year ball given last night by the Daughters of Rebekah. The ladies were general masters of ceremony and conducted the evening's entertainment with all the grace and decorum imaginable. The gentlemen were not privileged to walk about without escorts and were otherwise restricted within the bounds of a demure propriety. But the ball was a success. Dancing was kept up until a late hour and the time for ceasing came all too soon.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Will let announcements with much satisfaction that the department has, after much experimentation, found a pasture grass which will grow and thrive perfectly in the arid regions of the west and northwest with little or no rain. Upon a farm of 250 acres the grass was planted last year in an arid section of Kansas. In five months only one and a half inches of rain fell, yet in this dry weather grass grew luxuriantly.
